

ABSTRACT

A rear bumper assembly structure for a vehicle is adapted for the securing of a rear bumper to a rear side part of the vehicle via a mounting bracket integrally formed at the rear bumper. A mounting boss is integrally formed to a rear side outer panel, 5 thereby reducing a vehicle's weight and improving the assembly process and maintenance of the vehicle.